LAW SCHOOL.

The regular course of studies in this Department is so arranged as to be completed in two years; and with reference to these studies the students are divided into classes, according to their proficiency; but this arrangement does not prevent any one from engaging in as many studies as he may choose, according to his view of his own wants and attainments.

The exercises for the present year will be as follows: On Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, with Professor Green-Leaf; the Junior Class at 9 A. M., and the Middle and Senior Classes together, at 10 A. M. On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, with Professor Story, (except during the winter term, when he is absent,) one Class, at 3 P. M. This class is composed of all the members of the School who have not previously attended to the same studies, except the members of the Junior Class during their first and second terms. A second class occasionally attends Professor Story, in the study of Equity.

The following works will be studied during the present year. Autumn Term.—Bayley on Bills of Exchange, and Story on the Conflict of Laws, with Professor Story. Blackstone's Commentaries and Chitty on Pleading, with Professor Greenleaf. Winter Term.—Kent's Commentaries, Starkie on Evidence, and Story on the Constitution, with Professor Greenleaf. Spring Term.—Abbott on Shipping, Story on Bailments, and Cooper, or some other work, on Equity, with Professor Story. Chitty on Contracts, Angell and Ames on Corporations, Stephen on Pleading, and Cruise's Digest of the Law of Real Property, with Professor Greenleaf.

Every Monday, at 3 P. M., a Moot Court is held by the Professors alternately; at which a case, previously given out, is argued by four students from the Middle and Senior Classes, in rotation; after which an opinion is delivered by the presiding Professor.

The regular exercises of every week are conducted in the way of recitations, conversations, and familiar oral expository lectures by the Professor. Written lectures are occasionally delivered by each Professor, at such times as are found convenient. Those of the present year, by Professor Story, will be chiefly upon Equity Jurisprudence and Practice.

The Law Library, which contains about 3600 volumes, is opened every morning, (Sundays excepted,) immediately after Commons, and is closed at 9 P. M.

The terms and vacations in this Department correspond with those of the Undergraduates.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

THE Divinity School consists of three classes, the Senior, Middle, and Junior. Their exercises through the year, respectively conducted by the Hollis Professor of Divinity, the Professor of Pulpit Eloquence and the Pastoral Care, and the Professor of Biblical Literature, are as follows.

JUNIOR CLASS.

Monday, 7 A. M., Hebrew; and 4 P. M., Criticism of the New Testament; with Professor Palfrey.

Tuesday, 3 P. M., Extempore Speaking, (part of the year,) with Professor Ware, Jr.

Wednesday, 7 A. M., Hebrew, with Professor Palfrey; 2 P. M., Natural Theology, (the first term,) and Evidences of Revealed Religion, (the last two terms,) with Professor Ware, Sen.

Friday, same as Monday.

MIDDLE CLASS.

Tuesday, 7 A. M., Arabic, (voluntary;) and 4 P. M., Criticism of the New Testament; with Professor Palfrey.

Wednesday, 3 P. M., Composition of Sermons, with Professor Ware, Jr.

Thursday, 7 A. M., Arabic; and 4 P. M., Criticism of the Old Testament; with Professor Palfrey.

Friday, 2 P. M., Ecclesiastical History, with Professor WARE, SEN.

SENIOR CLASS.

Monday, 2 P. M., Dogmatic Theology, with Professor WARE, SEN.

Tuesday, 7 A. M., Arabic, (voluntary,) with Professor

Wednesday, 4 P. M., Criticism of the New Testament, with Professor Palfrey.

Thursday, 7 A. M., Arabic; and 4 P. M., Criticism of the Old Testament; with Professor Palfrey.

Friday, 3 P. M., Pastoral Duties, with Professor Ware, Jr.

These exercises are conducted in the way of examination, conversation, dissertations by the students, or written or familiar lectures by the Professor, according as the nature of the subjects successively treated is thought to require. On the evening of Sunday there is preaching by the Students, on that of Monday an exercise in declamation, and on that of Friday practice in extempore speaking, in the Chapel of Divinity College, under the direction of the Professor of Pulpit Eloquence. Occasional written lectures on Preaching and the Pastoral Office are given by the same officer. On Thursday evenings he meets members of the school for conversation.

The Junior Class reads more than two hundred chapters in the Hebrew Bible. The exercises of the two higher classes in the Old Testament embrace all the books in that collection; and in the course of study the whole of the New Testament is examined in the original.

A room in the College, containing a valuable collection of books of reference, is open for the resort of students through every forenoon.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

The Lectures in the Medical School begin on the first Wednesday in November, and continue daily during three months, and are given at the Medical College in Boston.
